

Has anyone seen the fire alarm pull box?

Oh, there it is, peeking out between the summer soccer program notice and the job posting item. Someone could have picked a better location for the notice board. The contributor of this photo says he had looked at the bulletin board hundreds of times before only recently noticing the pull box.